

Rewrites for Sonic #14 and 15

Story 1: Tails the Wise (Formerly "Tails' Taste of Power") Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Tails was exploring a jungle zone in the Mobius of the Sky one day, when he found a magic tree. When he ate some of the fruit, his intelligence increased. Tails decided to prove himself to his friends by accompanying them in another attack in the Mobius of Darkness. Metal Sonic was making more Super Badniks for his master, Eggman. The two he had just completed were the Flame Bull (created by a bull samurai) and the Magnetic Lizard (the result from transforming a Komodo Dragon into a Super Badnik). Tails took on both by outsmarting them. Flame Bull hit Magnetic Lizard with his "Flame Horn Missiles", and Magnetic Lizard zapped Flame Bull with his "Magnet Mouth Laser". The animals inside were freed!

However, Tails wandered off some more (but not without Sonic following) and ventured into Robotropolis. When he was about to face Eggman, the fruit wore off. Fortunately, Sonic came in when he had found out what had happened (Tails told Eggman as Metal Sonic held him in his grasp what he had done) and went in to save Tails. After a brief explanation back in Mobotropolis, some other kids wanted to know where the tree was! "I guess kids will be kids!" sighed Sonic.

Story 2: Sally and Bunnie's Night Out (Formerly "Girls Just Wanna Have Fun") Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Sally and Bunnie were relaxing from battle (Bunnie stayed normal for the while, since she only became a cyborg when needed), when they found a poster of an old amusement park in the Mobius of the Sky that was still active. When they got there at night, they saw the rides and games active, but no one else. They were slightly suspicious, but they decided to go in and have a good time anyway. After a few rides and games, they decided to enter the fun house. But Metal Sonic was ready for them!

Once inside, Metal Sonic trapped them in the virtual arcade. Sally struck the first blow when Metal attacked. Bunnie then got on her "battle gear" and aided Sally. Soon, Metal was badly damaged and had to retreat to Robotropolis in the Mobius of Darkness. Sally and Bunnie then returned to Mobotropolis, where they would plan how to make the amusement park safe for people later on.

Story 3: The Three Stones of Magic
(Formerly "Rockin' the Bot!")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

After a brief but strong storm, Sonic went about to examine any damages. Soon, he rescued a wise man that was caught under a fallen tree. After helping him, Sonic was rewarded by the wise man with three magical stones- one for Invisibility, one for Super Strength, and one for Magical Defense. A few days later, Eggman emerged with his Giant Centi-Bot Super Badnik! The giant centipede threatened to destroy Mobotropolis, but Sonic brought with him the three stones. Sonic used the Magical Defense to protect himself from the lasers, and then used Invisibility to sneak into the bot.

Once inside, he fought Eggman until he was forced to retreat, then Sonic used the Super Strength Stone to destroy the Centi-Bot, freeing the wise man's grandson! The wise man thanked Sonic and left with his grandson to another land... but they looked forward to meeting again!

Story 4: Sonic- Save Bunnie!
(Formerly "Animal Magnetism")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Sonic and his friends were having a picnic, when Metal Sonic spoiled everything by attacking them. Bunnie transformed to a cyborg and attacked Metal with a combination of cyborg attacks and magic spells. But Metal activated a magnetic field that trapped Bunnie! Sonic soon fought back and attacked Metal Sonic (and some Badniks who came to help Metal in the fight). The others fought the Badniks and freed the animals, while Sonic fended off Metal. After the battle, Bunnie was freed from the Magnetic field!

Once back in Mobotropolis, Rotor placed a special coating on Bunnie's cyborg armor. Once she reverted back to her normal form, Bunnie breathed a sigh of relief, now knowing that Eggman has one less trick to use to capture her!
